Message

Recognizing that education is the pathway out of poverty, Bangladesh has made significant progress in increasing access to learning during the last few decades. The covid-19 pandemic was threatening to erase many of those gains. According to the UN, more than 91 % of students worldwide have been affected by the temporary institution closures. Experts fear that institution closures and the loss of some family income could keep students out of college indefinitely. Parents are literally starving, but they want their children back to colleges. Now we have a tough challenge ahead to cover up the learning loss.

The main aspect of the sustainable development goals (SDG) is ‘quality education’ which is a monumental goal. It is a challenge for the educational institution to ensure adequate space in the classrooms, trained and skilled teachers, transport facilities, and technological assistance, etc.

The college closures, job losses of parents, and need for physical distance further complicated things. The college authority has been continuing online and in-presence classes to keep the students involved in learning. It’s true that students living in the periphery did not have Wi-Fi access, and purchasing mobile data was impossible for them due to poverty. So, online classes could not completely substitute classroom teaching. Now, we have the most important challenge ahead to subsidize their loss in the coming year.

Our college has implemented several projects undertaken by the CEDP despite the covid-19 situation. The CEDP college team has prepared the annual project proposal for the next two years, and their activities are going on in full swing.

I hope that with the development of the pandemic situation, everything will return to normalcy.

Chapter – 1 Introduction

Khulna the youngest district of the presidency division of British Bengal was born in 1882. Although the district headquarters was 175 km off from the capital Calcutta, it took only four hours for a train journey to reach the capital city. The children of the landlord and upper middle class families preferred the capital city for their higher education and as a result no institution for higher education was established in Khulna region. Towards the end of the nineteenth century, when the urge for higher education among the middle class families grew stronger, it was felt necessary to establish Institution for higher education.

It was around the beginning of the twentieth century when some eminent philanthropists of Khulna and Bagerhat decided to establish a college around the district headquarters of Khulna. Mr. Brajalal Chakravarty M.A.B.L. an advocate of Calcutta High court, landlords Mr. Troilakyanath Chatterjee and Mr. Jadunath Biswas selected a beautiful site at Daulatpur, a suburb of Khulna and beside the Khulna Calcutta railway. The villages around Daulatpur had a strong majority of caste Hindu population in which there were many highly educated persons. High court judges, I.C.S. officers, poets and litterateurs. The site of the college at Daulatpur was selected by the sponsors for different reasons. It was a small but beautiful river port on the Bhairab, a few minute walk from Daulatpur railway station. Only 8 km away from the district headquarters, the site was also far from the madding crowd of Khulna. The sponsors also expected that the college would attract the attention of the educated and wealthy caste hindu population and they would come forward with financial and other help. In order to impart a strong moral education along with the University syllabus, a temple was established in 1902 along with the college on a plot of land measuring only two acres of land purchased by Mr. Brajalal Chakravartty, after words more land was acquired by purchase and gift and it is learnt that a major portion of the college area lies on the land owned by Syedpur Trust Estate of Haji Muhammad Mohsin the great.

Mr. Brajalal Chakravartty Hazi Mohammad Mohsin

A Chatushpati (an institution for Sanskrit and religious education) associated with the temple was also established. The flowing river on one side and the green trees surrounding the area was so charming and excellent that the sponsors designed to give it the shape of hermitage. In those days the Brahmin priest of a temple was very much particular about untouchability. They had a view that the sanctity of the temple and the idol of the goddess could not be duly preserved if people other than the caste Hindu sect are allowed to move in the hermitage area. The authority of the temple and the college resolved to admit students coming from the caste Hindu community only. From the beginning the whole institution was of residential nature. On account of its residential nature, a physician was appointed for giving free medical treatment to the resident teachers and boarder students.

The teachers and the employees showed creativity and innovative skills in continuing academic and official activities in the changed pandemic situation. They showed quick adaptability and a communicative skills too. The all these are the part of their accountability with the profession. They also developed problem solving and inter personal skills.

If the pandemic situation continues, we must carry on the technology-assisted programs to ensure the virtual attendance, punctuality, productivity of quality work, mutual cooperation, coaching and training skills and so on.

We will arrange more in-house training programs, national and international webinars, cultural competition on virtual platforms, awareness programs and so on.

Evaluation systems will be introduced to ensure the professional commitment of the teachers and the employees as well.

With the development of pandemic situation, programs of virtual platform should be minimized and classroom based activities should be restored as it were previously.

In the periphery where Wi-Fi access is not easy students should be provided with mobile data facilities almost free of cost. Effective online examination system should be innovated. Teachers and officials' efficiency should be increased in technological fields by imparting training programs. They should be encouraged to be technology savvy. Some activities should be conducted by maintaining physical distance and health issues.
